POLITICAL GOSSIP.

Wharton Barker Suggested as Deserving Political Reward.

Carlisle's Seat Depends on the Validity of His Ballots.

The Official Count in West Virginia Still Incomplete.

Republicans More Confident and Democrats Less So.

Political Gossip at Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS, November 13.—The News this evening prints this bit of interesting political gossip: The first suggestion that has been made to General Harrison since his election regarding appointments came from Irish anti Cleveland men, four of whom, Dr. Carroll of Philadelphia and Messrs. Devoy, Brislin and Ryan of New York, arrived in the city last Saturday but returned to the east yesterday. Efforts were made to prevent the public from learning the purpose of their visit, but they did not hesitate to say they were here in the interests of a representative American of extraordinary ability, whom Irish citizens would be pleased to see honored by the administration. The representative American in whose elevation they are interested, it was ascertained, is Wharton Barker, the Philadelphia banker.

When Carroll, Devoy and others began their political missionary work in the interest of the republican candidates they formed an organization known as the National Irish American Protection society, which as a political movement was entirely independent of the republican national committee, and received from it no pecuniary aid. In defraying the necessary expenses Wharton Barker was their backer. Carroll, Devoy, and others who were among the leaders of the movement are anxious that he should receive some reward. They were so kindly received that Devoy ventured to explain to General Harrison that the members of the Irish American protection organization feel that they were good to the republican party to expect any official recognition, but it would afford them much gratification if a representative American who had been specially friendly to them as well as to General Harrison himself, should be [illegible] by the new administration. General Harrison's reply is said to have been neither encouraging nor discouraging. The visitors expressed doubt to their friends here if Barker would be asked to accept anything below the treasury portfolio. It has been suggested, however, if he should not be called in the cabinet there are strong reasons for the belief that he would make a good minister to China.

Count of Disputed Ballots.

CINCINNATI, November 13.—An examination of ballots in Boone, Campbell, Kenton and Pendleton counties, in the Sixth Kentucky district, shows 1,102 perforated tickets were cast for Hon. G. Carlisle. His majority in the district was 961, so that if no further search is made there are enough ballots to defeat him if it shall be declared upon contest that these perforated ballots are void.

The Count in West Virginia.

WHEELING, W. Va., November 13.—The all-important official count in the mountain state is not completed, and until it is no one will know definitely whether the electoral ticket is republican or democratic. The majority cannot be more than two or three hundred either way. The republican state committee has raised its estimate from one hundred and twenty-five and two hundred to the above figures, as its claim, while the democratic committee has reduced its estimate one hundred. The democratic claim today is from four to five hundred. It probably will be the latter part of the week before the official count is completed.

Judge Fleming, the democratic candidate for governor, has demanded a recount of the Kanawha returns, which county reported a majority for Goff of fifteen hundred. In the counts so far no important errors have been discovered. What trifling gains are made by one party are offset by similar gains for the opposing side. The returns now justify the belief that there will be no material difference in the totals between the republican state and national tickets, as Goff did not run so much ahead of his ticket as was at first reported.

The Mexicans Pleased.

CITY OF MEXICO, November 13.—Senor Dublan, minister of finance says the election of General Harrison will be beneficial to Mexico; and Senor Baranda, minister of justice, thinks the new administration in the United States will increase the commerce and harmony between the two republics.

The governor of the state of Zacatecas has called a meeting of merchants, bankers and property owners to devise means for the construction of branch railroads to San Luis Potosi and Guadalajara.

The Other Side.

RALEIGH, N. C., November 13.—Eldridge Jordan, who with his family has arrived at Boston, was, it is said required to leave Durham N. C., because he was believed to have incited negroes to break open a construction car of the Northern and Durham Railroad Co. and possess themselves of one hundred dynamite cartridges and also to have set fire to burn the residence of Caleb Green which was actually destroyed with other buildings in this town.

Tilden's Wines Sold.

NEW YORK, November 13.—The wine cellar of the late Samuel J. Tilden was vandalized by an auctioneer and crowds of purchasers today. Five hundred and twenty bottles of Steinlicher brought from $3.50 to $9.00 per bottle. Some [illegible] $4.50 and some blue grass whisky, forty years old, brought $11.50 per gallon. In all 1440 bottles were sold.

Election Results in Arizona.

[illegible] The legislature will be Republican in both branches.

Scarlet Fever Epidemic.

JAMESTOWN, Dak., November 13.—An epidemic of scarlet fever is raging here. Churches, Sunday schools and public schools have been ordered closed. A number of deaths have already occurred.

Victims of the Rochester Horror.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., November 12.—The work of searching the ruins of the steam gauge and lantern works for dead bodies has continued throughout to-day. The result has been the discovery of eight more blackened bodies, making 22 in all so far found.

Clue to the Whitechapel Murderer.

LONDON, November 13.—Police are confident that they are on the right track in their search for the Whitechapel murderer. Two persons have been found who saw the man that accompanied the last victim to her room on the night she was murdered. Their description of the man tally in every respect.

A Postmaster Reappointed.

WASHINGTON, November 13.—Postal authorities have received word that the postoffice at Fort Snelling, Minn., was burglarized last night. About $200 money, and postal notes and registered letters to an unknown amount were taken. The registered mail there is generally heavy on account of the proximity of the government military post.

The Mine Bill Condemned.

PITTSBURG, PA., November 13.—One thousand miners assembled in mass meeting to night to take action on the Frontenac horror. Resolutions strongly condemning State Mine Inspector Finley were adopted and his removal demanded. It was also agreed that each man should contribute to the relief fund his share in fifty bushels of coal, making about $1000 in all.

Secession in Dakota.

ST. LOUIS, November 14.—The result of election by Oklahomites in No Man's Land was largely in favor of a territorial government and for the Springer Oklahoma bill. O. G. Chace was elected delegate to congress together with the entire territorial council ticket favoring the Oklahoma bill. Kansas annexation schemers polled only a light vote.

Weather Statistics.

ST. PAUL, November 13.—A Pioneer Press Winnipeg special says: The Canadian Pacific and Dominion government have triumphed in the railroad carrying matter, the local government giving orders for immediate suspension of work [illegible] of the Northern Pacific and Manitoba railroad, owing to the inclemency of the weather.

The Last Indian War.

ST. LOUIS, November 13.—The action of the Pennsylvania road in cutting rates proves a stumbling block for the Transcontinental association, and was the principal subject under discussion today. The executive committee appointed this morning is expected to make a report to-morrow, but the prevailing opinion [illegible] to be that little can be accomplished with the demoralizing [illegible] the east at the very outset of the deliberations of the trans-Missouri [illegible] interests.

Gov. Gordon Inaugural.

ATLANTA, Ga., November 13.—Governor Gordon was inaugurated for the second term to-day. The inauguration address deals with the election and the effect it will have on the state and on individuals, taking the stand that the [illegible] does not believe republican success means the degrading of any of the southern states by the control of force bills. If there is one principle of government dearer than all others to the American heart it was the independence and equality of the states.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

The biennial session of the general assembly of Alabama opened yesterday.

The Roumanian parliament was opened yesterday by King Charles in person.

Heavy rains in the past few days have caused floods, in many districts of England.

The Oates bill passed its second reading in the house of lords yesterday without division.

Rt. Hon. Sir Baggallay, formerly lord justice of appeal of England, is dead 75 years of age.

A contract for the construction of the Sault Ste Marie canal has been awarded for $1,200,000.

A report is in circulation in Vienna that an attempt has been made to assassinate Prince Ferdinand, the ruler of Bulgaria.

It is rumored in Paris that German guards on the eastern frontier shot three French sportsmen yesterday, killing one of them.

An Ottawa dispatch says: An order in council has been passed increasing the export duties on pine logs from two to three dollars per thousand feet, board measure.

Dr. H. G. Hite, of an organization similar to the Indiana White Caps, was found guilty at Little Rock for intimidating witnesses in federal cases in Randolph county.

Thomas L. Botts, of the famous Virginia family, committed suicide yesterday on account of disappointment at losses of bets on the election.

The Marquis of Queensbury, who came to New York a week ago from San Francisco sails for England Saturday. He considers Fitzsimmons about the best man in the world.

It is now learned that the collision between the Nantes and the Thomas Ruger resulted in the drowning of 35 of the steamer's crew and 12 of the crew of the German vessel.

The 24th annual session of the Medical Convention of the American Episcopal church began in Washington. There are 250 delegates present among whom are many prominent bishops.

The arbitrators to whom was submitted the question of division of rates on through business between the Union Pacific and Oregon Short Line have rendered a decision deemed slightly favorable to the Short Line.

A grand farewell was given yesterday to Hon Carl Schurz on the occasion of his departure from Hamburg for the United States. The [illegible] and many other distinguished persons accompanied Schurz to the steamer.

GROWTH OF ANARCHY

Recent Gatherings of International Show Great Growth.

Inspector Bonfield Furnishes Interesting Information.

Organization, Plans and Membership Known to Detectives.

A Concerted Uprising Set for July of Next Year.

The Growth of Anarchism.

CHICAGO, November 13.—The Times says: Anarchy is not dead or even sleeping. On the contrary it is more thoroughly organized than ever at the time of the Haymarket riot and more [illegible] ships is larger than it has ever been. The demonstration of last Sunday at Waltham was not a gathering of a few sympathizers and friends of the dead anarchists. It was an organized outpouring of International[illegible] who had thus arranged to come out and demonstrate at any point agreed upon.

Inspector Bonfield, who is known to have kept detectives watching every movement of the anarchists for the past few weeks, when asked if there were many anarchists at the celebration, replied:

"Yes there were. Most of them were anarchists."

"Then you think they are still organized and have a large membership?"

"I have had men on looking up their names and we know where they are and have the name and address of the leader and the most radical anarchists, so that we can watch them all the time. They meet in smaller numbers than before, but there are more of them, and they conduct their meetings differently. There is not so much preparation at the meetings for fighting and drilling with arms and explosives, but what is far more dangerous they are thoroughly organized just within the pale of the law, and all we can do is to keep our eyes on them."

"The worst thing about it is they have several schools here for teaching anarchy, which they call 'Anarchy Sunday schools.' In these they teach the children to [illegible] and [illegible] the laws, and teach them the most principles of anarchy. Why the wife of a steward employe of the county board is an organizer, and teacher in one of these schools, and there is no less than five thousand such bodies of anarchists in Chicago to-day ready and organized waiting for the appointed time. The society must [illegible] of late. They have set a day for it at the local quarters, but in the meantime they will avail themselves of every opportunity to carry out their objects of destruction to all organized law and order institutions. They sent out circulars before the election asking the relative candidates to express their opinion on the status of anarchy law enacted at the last session of the legislature. Many candidates replied that they were in favor of modification of that law and some of those candidates were elected. So you see they are becoming wise and consequently more dangerous, because the most radical of them are afraid to experiment to get their explosives as long as the law is on it."

"You say they have a day set for the uprising and mentioned the headquarters. Have you any information of this phase of the International?"

"Yes, much more than I can give you. But you may say we have positive evidence of their organization, officers, plans, committees, etc. The central points are in London, with Paris next, then Brussels, New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and San Francisco. All the principal countries have nice presidents. The United States having two—Chicago and New York the [illegible] In the strength of their numbers they rank France first, Germany second, British Isles third, etc., with the United States and Mexico last. In America the central headquarters is in New York. So far they have agreed on the one hundredth anniversary of the fall of the Bastile as the day for a concerted uprising. I do not think the people can take too much in earnest. They may have to charge it, but they will certainly make the effort. It must come, that is inevitable."

K. of L. Convention.

INDIANAPOLIS, November 13.—About the hotel corridors this morning delegates to the twelfth general assembly Knights of Labor were busily engaged in discussing matters of importance to the order. General Master Workman Powderly arrived early this morning and was at once taken to breakfast, after which he was closeted with Acting Secretary Hayes and other members of the executive board until the time of meeting. Conspicuous in the lobby of the Grand hotel was Thomas B. Barry of Michigan, leader of the fight against Powderly. He talked freely, accusing present members of the board of extravagance, mismanagement, employment of persons not members of the order and of other things heretofore published very generally and more fully. Talk of Jarrett as the possible successor of Powderly caused the delegates a great deal of amusement, in view of the fact that no one but delegates are eligible to election, and Jarrett does not happen to be a delegate; in fact there is some doubt whether he is a member of the organization. W. T. Lewis of Pittsburg is about the only [illegible] spoken of as an opponent of Powderly for the chief place, and his opposition may not materialize to any great extent.

It was quarter past ten when Powderly rapped for order. Of the 150 delegates 125 were present when the session opened. It lasted till noon. The press committee of the convention say no great work was produced. The report of the committee on [illegible] which was [illegible] generally as predicted. There were no protests as to the legality of the appointment of certain delegates. Before the Chicago contest was started in the case of [illegible] Powderly read a letter from New York [illegible] Justice Hannen, remarked that he [illegible] and probably other engineering [illegible] the case had received similar [illegible] intimation of what [illegible] he said, was so certain that precaution must be taken not to allow the premature disclosure of their names.

Taking [illegible] in relation to [illegible] was then proceeded with. James Mannon declared himself a Fenian and member of the National league. He had taken part in several outrages and on moonlight expeditions. He knew one moonlighter who was not also a member of the league. Peter A. Finnerty, [illegible] of Galway, testified that he was a moonlighter and had assisted to [illegible] Howard shortly previous to his meeting with the moonlighters near Ballinasloe. Howard shortly previous to his meeting with the moonlighters near Ballinasloe. Howard shortly previous to his meeting with the moonlighters near Ballinasloe.

Conductor Guth of the Rock Island has taken a residence on North Tejon street

A new postoffice has been established at Falcon, and Mr R T Kavanagh appointed postmaster

Dr A D Scott of St Joseph, Mo, has been appointed surgeon of the C K & N with residence in this city

There will be a meeting of the B F Crowell Hose company this evening All members are requested to be present.

Mrs W H Lowther expects to leave very soon for Austin, Texas, where she will join her husband, who has decided to locate in that city.

A series of gospel meetings will begin at the Christian church, 315 East Huerfano street, this evening. The pastor will be assisted after Friday evening by Elder A M Collins of Cameron, Mo

Robert M, the only son of Mr. and Mrs M. H Wilbur, died Sunday morning, aged four years. The funeral will occur this morning from the residence, 429 Pike's Peak avenue, at 10 o'clock.

The most famous musical organization in America, the Boston Quintette club, will give one of their grand concerts in the opera house to morrow evening. They deserve to have a packed house.

In the district court yesterday afternoon Jacob Diamond was sentenced to two days in the county jail for petty larceny. Harry H. Stone plead guilty to horse stealing but was not sentenced.

A number of members of the Free Methodist society held a service by song, prayer and exhortation on the corner of Tejon and Huerfano streets sunday afternoon. A large crowd gathered to list n.

There was a special meeting of the city council last night to consider matters relating to settling with McShane, Clough & Moore, the sewer contractors. The council was only in session a few minutes

There will be a meeting of the Mary Frances Hose company to-morrow evening. All members are requested to be present as nominations for officers for the ensuing year will be in order and the election transacted.

The general meeting of the Young Men's Republican club will be held this evening in city hall. It is very important that as many members as possibly can will attend, as the matter of continuing the organization will be discussed. The election of officers for the year will also occur.

The Rock Island announces that on the 18th instant its splendid vestibule train will be put on with through cars between Denver, Pueblo, Colorado Springs and Chicago. This will probably be the most splendidly equipped train ever run in the west. The full particulars are given in another column

Not a very large audience, but certainly a very interested one, listened to the reading by Rev. W. H. Brodhead at the Congregational church last night. Mr. Brodhead is a very fine reader and he rendered Adirondack Murray's simple and beautiful story, "John Norton's Christmas" with a power and intelligence that perhaps no other reader in the west could give it.

The stereopticon lecture at the Baptist church to-night should attract a crowded house. Mr. H. B Chamberlain is well known as one of Denver's prominent real estate merchants and as president of the Denver Young Men's Christian association. He has collected a fine series of views on "Rome" which he puts in a fluent, attractive way. The use of the college stereopticon under Professor Strieby's care, is full assurance that the views will be well thrown upon the curtain Single tickets at the door

The board of canvassers began the work of counting the vote of the county yesterday but it was found that the return of the ballots in Colorado City, Colorado Springs Fountain, El Paso, Manitou, Four Mile, Sunview, Edgerton, Templeton's and Granger precincts were defective, and the work was interrupted, as they will have to be returned to the judges for correction It will be some days before the official count can be made It was in Wards 1 and 4 of Colorado Springs that the return was defective

The attraction at the opera house tomorrow evening will be the Boston Quintette club in one of their popular concerts An exchange in speaking of their soprano says: "Miss Carpenter is a high soprano, whose fine presence and cultured voice place her at once in the front rank of concert prima donnas. She showed herself to be a thorough mistress of accuracy and attack. She is at home in Italian as well as the modern German and French style. During the past summer Miss. Carpenter sojourned in Paris and all her beautiful costumes worn during her present tour with the Boston Quintette club are marvels of art designed by Felix and Worth, of Paris

Being very desirous of raising money for the [illegible] Phœnix Literary society has arranged for a musicale to be held in the college chapel next Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock Aside from the best local talent the services of Miss Robinson one of Denver's sweetest singers has been secured for the occasion Every effort will be made by the members of Phœnix to make it one of the most brilliant musical events of the season An admission of $1 will be charged Tickets can be obtained at the Consolidated Bank or from Mr. Clay White G M Kerr and A F Bemis, the members of the executive committee

Messrs F A Mongond and George E Macklin, under the firm name of Mongold & Macklin will open an office at 108 Pike's Peak avenue, for the purpose of handling the celebrated Maitland coal They will use the outfit of the Maitland Coal company, whose office in this city will probably be abandoned the demand for Maitland coal being so great that the miners have never been able to mine more than half supply It Mr Mongold will have charge of the office in this city and Mr. Macklin will continue as the traveling salesman of the Maitland company The boys are sanguine and while they do not expect to revolutionize the coal business in this city yet they intend to do their share

A Woman at the Bottom of It.

Two Italians settled a slight unpleasantness existing between them with bare fists just below the city limits this morning. The two contestants were Antonio Singi and Mali Fogs, both railroad section hands working near here It seems that previous to their coming to this country, these dark skinned sons of the boot shaped kingdom across the Atlantic both fell in love with the same girl This unfortunate love affair was the cause of many encounters but two years ago they emigrated together to this country and in the absence of the fair signorina forgot their differences and became good friends Everything was going smoothly enough until one week ago, when the girl surprised her old time lovers by springing in Pueblo where the men were at work at the time She had heard the tales which are sent across the water of the easy life and easily earned fortunes to be had in this country and had come to see for herself. At the sight of her all the old passion sprung up with redoubled force in the breasts of Mali and Antonio The girl refused to say which was the favorite. Each one swore to the other that he was the favorite one. The girl found employment in Pueblo and received the undivided attentions of each without showing partiality to either. When the two lovers met words ensued which invariably ended in blows and often a serious quarrel followed. Yesterday the dark eyed beauty moved to Colorado City and was followed by Mali. Antonio hearing of it, came up this morning They both went to work in a section gang employed near the city. Beginning at once to quarrel with each other, they finally got angry and agreed to fight it out, which they did. After bruising each other for some time, they both left the ground no nearer to a settlement of the ownership of the girl than they were before, both having blackened, and swollen eyes, which may effectually keep them from the Italian has for either

The Denver Republican of yesterday has the following to say of the Quintette club who appear at the opera house this evening "It was a relief from the monotony of foreign affectation of Mademoiselle and Signor So-and-So to hear the Boston Miss Carpenter and others of the Boston Quintette club at the First Baptist church last evening. A good house applauded them, and the concert given was one of the finest that has ever been listened to in Denver Each one of the gentlemen is a soloist of reputation and this results in a Miss Carpenter reads well, has a pleasing voice, and is perfectly self-possessed which is not to be considered lightly in praise of the performer She is also a pianist of ability and displayed that to good advantage in the concert. Each of the gentlemen is a soloist of reputation and this results in a delightful ensemble. Mr Carpenter reads well, has a pleasing voice, and is perfectly self-possessed which is not to be considered lightly in praise of the performer"

The annual meeting of the Young Men's Republican club was held last night in the city hall Chairman Kinsley presided Treasurer Perrin reported that there was $14 75 in the treasury when he took the office and there had since been paid in $260 00, making a total of $274 75 The expenditures therefor amounted to $242 00, leaving a balance in the treasury of $32 75 Chairman Kinsley of the executive committee reviewed the work of the campaign He suggested, in behalf of his committee, that the club should not disband but elect officers for the coming year and make the meetings subject to a call of the executive committee A motion to the above effect was carried The following officers were then elected: President, A. B. Brisbin; first vice president, N. M. Campbell; second vice president, M. O. Barnes; secretary, H. C. McCreery; treasurer, C. W. Fairly; executive committee, Messrs. Beach, Kinsley, Woodruff, Connell and Fowler A vote of thanks was tendered to the retiring officers The club then adjourned sine die.

Mark Twain's Precocious Daughter.

[Correspondence of the Globe-Democrat.]

NEW YORK, November 8, 1888—Mark Twain, if he is in the mood, will tell the story of his wife's remarks in a manner worthy of the greatest of living humorists. When he first met the lady who afterward became his wife he was not so distinguished as now, his origin was humble, and for some years of his life he had been a pilot on the Mississippi river. The future Mrs Clemens was a woman of position and fortune; her father was a judge and doubtless expected "family" and social importance in his son in law. Clemens, however, became interested in his daughter and after awhile proposed, but was rejected.

"Well, he said to the lady, I didn't much believe you'd have me, but I thought I'd try.

After awhile he "tried" again, with the same result, and then remarked, with his celebrated drawl: "I think a great deal more of you than if you'd said 'Yes,' but it's hard to bear" A third time he met with better fortune, and then came to the most difficult part of his task, to address the old gentleman.

Judge," he said to the dignified millionaire "have you seen anything going on between Miss Lizzie and me?"

"What? What?" exclaimed the judge, rather sharply, apparently not understanding the situation, yet not getting a glimpse of it from the inquiry.

"Have you seen anything going on between Lizzie and me?"

"No, no, indeed," replied the magnate sternly "No sir, I have not."

"Well" look sharp and you will" said the would-be [illegible] and that's the way he asked the fatal preliminary for his daughter's hand

Mark has a child who inherits some of her father's brightness She kept a diary at one time in which she noted the occurrences in the family and among other things the sayings of her parents On one page she wrote that father sometimes used [illegible] when mother wasn't by and he thought "we" didn't hear. Mrs Clemens found the diary and showed it to her husband, probably thinking the particular page worth his notice. After this Clemens did and said several things that were intended to attract the child's attention, and found they duly noted afterward. But one day the following entry occurred

"I don't think I'll put down anything more about father, for I don't [illegible] things to have me notice him, and I believe he reads this diary." She was Mark's own child.

When Henry George was the labor candidate for mayor of New York it was predicted that he would take a prominent place in the presidential campaign of 1888 but long before the campaign began George was discovered to be a humbug and as such was quickly dropped from the public mind.

It is a recognized fact that women are steadily advancing to positions of honor and trust. Nowhere is this fact so clearly demonstrated as behind the cashier's desk in mercantile establishments throughout the country. A few years ago the female cashier was almost unknown. Now her name is legion and her deft fingers handle tens of thousands of dollars.

The national government is for the first time in its history, to publish statistics on divorces. Col. Carroll D. Wright, the commissioner of labor, is preparing the report. The period of investigation extends back twenty years, and the figures are being obtained from 2,500 courts, including every one having jurisdiction over divorces. This report will prove very interesting.

For the first time since the White chapel murders began his diabolical works, after the discovery of the mutilated body of his seventh victim, the London police seem to have succeeded in obtaining a valuable clue to the perpetrator of these bold and horrible butcheries of women. It is to be hoped that the police are on the right track and the fiend will now be brought swiftly to justice.

In the Republic of Monday last the ... forcible letter concerning our college, which we gladly reprint in this morning's edition. The time is now ripe for the people of our city and state to realize the opportunity before them of speedily placing this institution in a position to do the full work of a college of the highest grade. Among the many tokens of the coming prosperity of our city which have appeared during the last year none is more to be welcomed than the emerging of Colorado college from the embarrassments which for several years past ... weight upon it and crippled its work.

A large burden of ... has been removed and a president has been secured who is already rapidly winning his way among the students and officers of the college and the community at large. Evidently we now have a man at the head of the college who by his scholarship, his high ideals, his devotion and his administrative power is capable of making it in a few years the foremost institution of the higher learning between the Mississippi and the Pacific, provided the citizens of Colorado rally liberally to its support. It goes without saying that no other town in the west region referred to is so admirably adapted to be the seat of a college as Colorado Springs. All that is ... its climate, its scenery, the character of its population, its location, fits it to be an educational centre.

It does not seem unreasonable to anticipate that with the largely increased population of the state, and with proper accommodations for students, and under a scholarly, energetic and level headed administration there should be an attendance in 1889-90 of from ... students.

Supposing each student to spent $500, a very moderate estimate, that means from a business point of view, a total expenditure of from $60,000 to $80,000 annually in the town. Only those who have been familiar with the growth of well managed colleges in the west can realize how great a factor in the future development of this city, Colorado college can be made.

Michigan university has been in existence only about twice as many years as Colorado college, but it has to-day upwards of 1000 students in all its departments. Oberlin college an institution founded and sustained by private beneficence, is only a few years older than Michigan university and has to-day nearly an equal number of students. We live in an age when money and administrative ability can very rapidly build up a university anywhere as such institutions as Cornell, Johns Hopkins, Wellesley and Smith show us. The state, Colorado in its public school system is already, by the confession of the highest educational authorities, the second state in the Union. But as yet it has nothing deserving the name of college or university. The men of wealth and culture of whom there are so many in this state count find no better use for their money than to liberally endow Colorado college and make it a college of the first rank.

The definite and immediate need of the college is that $40,000 be raised to clear off the indebtedness on the piece of property opposite the college and known as College park. This will place this valuable land in the possession of the college with a clear title. It is further necessary that about $12,000 additional be raised for the purpose of erecting a club house at which board can be furnished at rates commensurate with the ... of the times.

From fifty to sixty students were turned away last year from the lack of this convenience, and the president is already receiving letters from applicants, both within and without the state, who are likely to be deterred in a similar way, unless lower rates of board can be provided. The erection of this club house will permit the authorities to advertise the college as they have not been able consistently to do for several years. Unless such a building can be erected it will be very difficult to enlarge the college into an institution which shall run ... beyond the mere basic needs of the city. It is needless to say that the college will serve in a very much larger way the city. If it be made what it easily possible, one of the ... institutions of the country instead of simply a good school for higher education.

We understand that some of our best business men propose to undertake the raising of ... money ... enough to make the college what it could be. The undertaking is ... and wise. We bespeak for it the ... of the citizens and the liberal co-operation of all our citizens. In no worthy work in which upon the way to a great, enlightened ... to multitudes who, for lack of means and favorable ... would not otherwise attempt to secure such an education.

It is from our young western colleges that some of the most promising men in the post-graduate courses at Johns Hopkins, Harvard and Cornell are now drawn—men who are eagerly sought to fill chairs in the older colleges and universities. ... Colorado ... the best place in which to establish this first-rate college, serving such ends, which is certain to be located somewhere in this state at an early day.

The time for action is now, and the undertaking should be on a generous scale.

COLORADO COLLEGE.

The following excellent letter from the Rev. J. S. Black appeared in Monday's Republic.

What is its future to be? In the past it has not grown with the city or with the state. There are reasons for this with which all those interested in the college are ... Be that as it may, the past is past, and cannot be recalled. We ... go on to our future.

Our city needs high class educational advantages. While the railroads may increase the population to a certain extent, and manufacturing industries may be introduced, our best and surest growth is as a pleasant place of residence. This far much is in our favor. We have good schools and the facilities for the study of music and painting are exceptionally good. We need a good college not only for the higher education of our own young people, but also for those who may come to it from other parts of the country. In the eastern states there are many young men and women who are prevented from studying by the state of their health. In our more favorable climate they could study and grow strong.

In securing Mr. Slocum as its president the trustees of our college have taken the first step towards prosperity. The writer of this believes that the man the right man, will make the institution, and he believes that in Mr. Slocum such a man has been found. It has been well remarked that if you get a man like the late Mark Hopkins on one end of a log and a student such as young Garfield was on the other end of it with only a log of timber for shelter, there you have a college. But there are practical details and aims which may help out this ideal. These are,

First. A college which shall be found on the side of morals and religion without being sectarian. Our college meets this requirement. It is non-sectarian. Much of misunderstanding ... as to the relation of the church to the college. Ours is a Congregational college in so far as it was incorporated by certain Congregationalists in this state, and in so far as the outside support has been drawn almost entirely from the Congregationalists of the east. But so far as this city is concerned members of all denominations have proved its friends, its trustees are drawn from different denominations, and its teaching staff represents more than one denomination. A professor of another church, like the writer, can make these statements with propriety. Our college is entitled to the support of all our citizens without distinction of creed.

The second requisite of a college is a teaching staff. With few if any exceptions our college has professors of which any institution might be proud. It is quite true that additions to the number of professors is quite desirable, but it is also true that a very thorough education can be received at this institution as it is at present.

Third. Requisite Buildings. The needs of a great and growing college never end, as witness Harvard, Yale, Princeton and our other older institutions of learning. Our college will yet in ... greater proportions as it is endowed by its benefactors in the future, but the pressing need of the present is a club house and dormitory—a building in which students from outside the city can find board and lodging. It is well known that the cost of living in Colorado Springs is higher than in most places, and if our college is to be a success we must be able to offer intending students a mode of living which will equal in comfort and not exceed in expense that which can be obtained at similar institutions of learning. This can be done by building and furnishing a club house ... with our ... requisite accommodations there is every likelihood that a number of students from out of town would be found in attendance.

From a business point of view it would pay to bring about this result. It ... an addition of not less than thirty thousand dollars to the retail trade of the city per year. The effort would be most ... such a club house deserves the support of all our citizens, and it is to be hoped that it will be pushed with energy as to be ready for occupancy with the beginning of the school year 1889-90.
